CAMBRIDGE

Homepage

Bibles permissions requests

To request permission to reproduce a section of a Cambridge Bible or Prayer Book, simply complete the Bibles permissions request form and return it to permissions@cambridge.org.

The rights of Cambridge in Bibles and Prayer Books are detailed below. For rights in any other Bible translation, please contact the relevant copyright holder.

The Book of Common Prayer

Rights in The Book of Common Prayer are vested in the Crown and administered by the Crown's patentee, Cambridge University Press.

The reproduction by any means of the text of The Book of Common Prayer is permitted to a maximum of five hundred (500) words for liturgical and non-commercial educational use, subject to the following acknowledgement being included:

Extracts from The Book of Common Prayer, the rights in which are vested in the Crown, are reproduced by permission of the Crown's patentee, Cambridge University Press.

When quotations from the BCP text are used in materials not being made available for sale, such as church bulletins, orders of service, posters, presentation materials, or similar media, a complete copyright notice is not required but BCP 1662 must appear at the end of the quotation.

Rights or permission requests (including but not limited to reproduction in commercial publications) that exceed the above guidelines must be directed to the Permissions Department (permissions@cambridge.org) and approved in writing. Please use this form for any permissions request. The more information you can provide, the quicker we can act on the permissions license.

King James Version

Rights in The Authorized Version of the Bible (King James Bible) in the United Kingdom are vested in the Crown and administered by the Crown's patentee, Cambridge University Press. The reproduction by any means of the text of the King James Version is permitted to a maximum of five hundred (500) verses for liturgical and non-commercial educational use, provided that the verses quoted neither amount to a complete book of the Bible nor represent 25 per cent or more of the total text of the work in which they are quoted, subject to the following acknowledgement being included:

Scripture quotations from The Authorized (King James) Version. Rights in the Authorized Version in the United Kingdom are vested in the Crown. Reproduced by permission of the Crown's patentee, Cambridge University Press

When quotations from the KJV text are used in materials not being made available for sale, such as church bulletins, orders of service, posters, presentation materials, or similar media, a complete copyright notice is not required but the initials KJV must appear at the end of the quotation.

Rights or permission requests (including but not limited to reproduction in commercial publications) that exceed the above guidelines must be directed to the Permissions Department (permissions@cambridge.org) and approved in writing. Please use this form for any permissions request. The more information you can provide, the quicker we can act on the permissions license.

New English Bible

The NEB text may be quoted in any form (written, visual, electronic or audio) up to and inclusive of five hundred (500) verses without the express written permission of the publisher, provided that the verses quoted neither amount to a complete book of the Bible nor represent 25 per cent or more of the total text of the work in which they are quoted. No changes may be made to the NEB text.

Notice of copyright must appear as follows on the title or copyright page of printed works in which the NEB text is quoted, or in a corresponding location when the NEB is quoted in other media:

Scripture quotations taken from the New English Bible, copyright © Cambridge University Press and Oxford University Press 1961, 1970. All rights reserved.

When quotations from the NEB text are used in materials not being made available for sale, such as church bulletins, orders of service, posters, presentation materials, or similar media, a complete copyright notice is not required but the initials NEB must appear at the end of the quotation.

Rights or permission requests (including but not limited to reproduction in commercial publications) that exceed the above guidelines must be directed to the Permissions Department (permissions@cambridge.org) and approved in writing. Please use this form for any permissions request. The more information you can provide, the quicker we can act on the permissions license.

Revised English Bible

The REB text may be quoted in any form (written, visual, electronic or audio) up to and inclusive of five hundred (500) verses without the express written permission of the publisher, provided that the verses quoted neither amount to a complete book of the Bible nor represent 25 per cent or more of the total text of the work in which they are quoted. No changes may be made to the REB text.

Notice of copyright must appear as follows on the title or copyright page of printed works in which the REB text is quoted, or in a corresponding location when the REB is quoted in other media:

Scripture quotations taken from the Revised English Bible, copyright © Cambridge University Press and Oxford University Press 1989. All rights reserved.

When quotations from the REB text are used in materials not being made available for sale, such as church bulletins, orders of service, posters, presentation materials, or similar media, a complete copyright notice is not required but the initials REB must appear at the end of the quotation.

Rights or permission requests (including but not limited to reproduction in commercial publications) that exceed the above guidelines must be directed to the Permissions Department (permissions@cambridge.org) and approved in writing. Please use this form for any permissions request. The more information you can provide, the quicker we can act on the permissions license.

If you have any questions, please contact us.

About us

Recognizing a Fine Bible

Binding Options

Glossary

FAQs

Contact us

Rights and Permissions

University Printers

Cambridge Bible Suppliers

Pew Programme

View our Catalogue (UK)

View our catalogue (US)

Sign up to Email Alerts

Follow us online

© 2026 Cambridge University Press & Assessment